

STUDENT-AT-LARGE DATA FORM

SALs are students who are enrolled as non-degree seeking students or students who have not received formal admission to the program. These students are allowed to take individual courses on a credit or non-credit basis for either personal or professional enrichment or to examine a field for career potential. Students-at-large are ineligible for federal financial aid. Individuals who have previously matriculated at the campus but are not in attendance currently, or who previously have been denied regular admission must petition the campus president in order to register as a student-at-large.
